The photographs on this page illustrate the interior of the TBIT ticket lobby, Security Screening Check Point and old bus gate area.

Departing Passenger Flow/Experience Level 4 - Central Core

The photographs on this page illustrate the interior of the new Central Core (Villaraigosa Pavilion) and Concourse.

Once the departing passengers arrive in the Central Core, they will experience a wide variety of concessions, retail shopping and airline lounges in the new Villaraigosa Pavilion (as noted on the feature article of this newsletter construction activities in these areas will continue for the next several months). It is important to note that upon opening day, the existing south concourse will cease operation; however, the existing north concourse will continue operation for another year. From the Villaraigosa Pavilion, passengers will make their way to the gates on either the north or the south concourse, including the existing north concourse. The passenger flow into the existing north concourse will be the reverse of the current access to Gates 130, 132 & 134, and will flow through the new north concourse as shown by the arrows on the drawing below.
